Levin Family Bestows Library With Gift to Remember Daughter

Bill Levin explained that he and his family, in making this gift to the library, "wished to accomplish two things." First, to provide a means for the local community who knew her "to recall our older daughter Chiara, who departed this life in March 2007 at age twenty-two, and to do so in an aesthetically pleasing way to complement the architecture of the expanded library, bestowing an artistic showpiece that would serve as one of the building's focal points and as a source of wonder and communal pride" in the library institution.

The family chose a glass vessel created by Levin's former colleague at Centre and glass artist Stephen Rolfe Powell which expresses various aspects of Chiara and her personality. Bill shared that "Steve knew Chiara well and had watched her grow up, so his contribution to the selection process was integral to it." Bill, his wife Grazia, and Elena, their younger daughter who was in Danville for a visit, went to Powell's showroom on Stanford Avenue to view its dazzling display of handsome pieces and select one piece.

"But almost immediately we all settled on 'Flaming Curious Flamingo'. Its rich hues; colors that transmit light and the glowing, prismatic patterns of its surface scatter light in all directions; the elegant upward sway of its profile from narrow base to the tip of its neck - all of this seemed to encompass the many sides of Chiara: her intelligence, her inquisitiveness, her thoughtfulness, her gracious generosity, her humor and playfulness, her curly hair and dancing eyes, and most of all her boundless energy and high spirits. The fact that the piece was created in 2007 carried a certain weight in the decision as well."

Powell explained, "When titling the piece, I chose 'Flamingo' to represent the fragility of life, something making glass naturally conveys. 'Flamingo' represents the posture of the piece, uplifting, full of life, colorful, beauty. 'Flaming Curious Flamingo' is full of many colors, some transparent colors that transmit light and many translucent colors that both reflect light and transmit light. These translucent colors exude extroverted energy and emotions while protecting an inner sensitivity that reflects honesty and integrity."

"Chiara possessed all of the characteristics that lead to what I am searching for in my work; beauty, thus meaning of life. The curly hair, vivacious smile, charismatic personality - curvy neck screaming, precariously perched, fragile, aquas and blues crossing like the seas, or is it the heavens?"

As the plaque identifying the vessel reads, "Remembering the Colors and Light of Chiara..." Levin explains, "Grazia, Elena, Steve, and I invite you to enjoy and ponder this piece as perhaps you think back on our beloved daughter, sister, and friend."

Georgia de Araujo was named the new Director of the Boyle County Public Library on June 1, 2013. Library Board President Betsy Wilt said that de Araujo was a natural choice for the job and will give the Library the benefit of having someone who can combine her own attributes with those received from her training under successful and popular retired Director Karl Benson.

De Araujo joined the Boyle County Public Library staff in 1986, after completing her Masters in Library Science from University of Kentucky. Earlier she had discovered her true calling while at Indiana University in a program that paired Public History with classes in the School of Library and Information Science. Originally from Akron, Ohio, she received her Bachelor's degree in History from Centre College. De Araujo joined the staff when the Library was making plans to convert its paper card catalog to a digital format and needed someone to lead the project. De Araujo, with her experience working on a similar project in graduate school, was the ideal project leader. Under the leadership of then Director Karl Benson, de Araujo continued to work for the library and was promoted to Assistant Director in 1991, a position she held until Benson's retirement in May 2013.

She emphasizes that the library has always had a strong book and audio-important part of what the library offers. visual collection, which remains an "In the coming years, the Library will focus on making the collection of historical materials more accessible and making all of the collections available in digital formats," says de Araujo. "New technologies continue to emerge and provide a wealth of opportunities for libraries to better serve their patrons and the community."

De Araujo directs a library staff of 27 employees, 14 of whom are full time. The staff is assisted by an average of 6 volunteers each week. Three of these volunteers are Friends of the Library members who read shelves, arranging books in their proper order. De Araujo describes the staff and the library's future plans this way: "We have a great group of creative and interesting people with a lot of good ideas. We're going to continue looking for ways to make the library building, collections, and services useful to the people in Boyle County. We're finding that, since other organizations have similar goals, partnerships are a natural and valuable thing."

De Araujo is a fan of non-fiction and said The Perfect Storm by Sebastian Junger, is one of her favorite books. The book which de Araujo describes as "riveting" was the basis for the movie of the same name.

LIBRARY RECEIVES $219,000 BIEGALLE BEQUEST

Emma Gordon Biegalle

The Boyle County Public Library received a bequest of $219,000 from the estate of Emma Gordon Biegalle, a lifelong Boyle County resident. Mrs. Biegalle, who died in August 2012, was the widow of Murray L. Biegalle, a Centre graduate whose lengthy career with the Kentucky state government spanned tenure in the Dept. of Revenue, Dept. for Economic Security, and nearly two decades with the Legislative Research Commission prior to his death in 2000.

Mrs. Biegalle, as well as her husband, was a loyal and frequent patron of the library and a member of Friends of the Library. The gift comes without restrictions and was facilitated through Kentucky Trust Co.

After using some of the money as a carry-over for the library's budget operations until annual tax revenues begin arriving, much of the amount will be added to the Danville Library's Trust Fund, the library's permanent fund. Annual income from the fund's investments is added to the library operating budget. $40,000 to $50,000 of the $219,000 bequest may be used as matching funds in grants that the library is seeking.

Earlier the library received several books from Biegalle's collection, library director de Araujo said, but the bequest was very unexpected. She added that it came at just the time when staff members were working on a grant application that requires matching funds.

124 PARTICIPANTS ENJOYED SUMMER FUN MATH NIGHTS

Suzanne Farmer, coordinator for Summer Fun Math Nights - a program designed to retain and improve children's math skills over the summer, reported that 124 people participated in the sessions. The sessions, offered in June and July at the library, were designed for children in grades K - 5 and their families. Data supports the need to improve math retention for local students.

Children's session attendance varied from one session up to four or five sessions for some children, Farmer noted. Participants completed surveys to provide feedback on the program. Farmer, a math instructor for Danville Schools, and other math specialists lead the games each evening.

Farmer received a grant from Friends' last spring that paid for costs of math game materials that children and families used during the sessions and then took home. The program was a collaboration of local school districts, local churches that provided a meal prior to each session, and the library.

100% of survey respondents "enjoyed this event" and "would recommend this to my friends". Other responses praised the program as being well organized with games that their children liked, and were appropriate for their age and skill levels.

Survey comments from participants endorsed the summer program:

"This is our third math night to attend. My child is excited to come each time: how often can you say that about going off to do MATH?"

"Very nice to get games we can take home and play. Also nice to not have to cook dinner."

"We have been to each of the scheduled math night games so far this summer. My daughter will not let me forget to come!"

"This was a wonderful event to bring my family to. The games were a lot of fun, the food was great, and you made math fun!"

Farmers adds that all children entering kindergarten this year will be tested for school readiness. Other student evaluations will also provide data on retention of math skills.

FOL Board Awards Benson Lifetime Membership

Karl Benson, retired library director, was honored by current and former Friends' board members with a lunch at Shaker Village in late July. In recognition for his long tenure and his outstanding leadership of Boyle County Public Library. Gayle Waddell, current board president, awarded Benson a lifetime Friends of the Library membership on behalf of the board.

The library's new director Georgia de Araujo was a guest at the gathering. Benson recently returned from a mission trip to Mexico for a Living Waters of the World water system installation.

Everything Gone! One Day Sale Nets $704

Over 900 books and other media items sold at August 10th's one day Everything Gone! book sale, clearing much needed space in the Friends' book storage room.

Customers included area booksellers looking for inventory, local patrons, and others. Two ladies who were returning to their Indiana home after some genealogy research in Somerset, saw the book sale sign placed at the corner of Fourth and Broadway and stopped to browse. They selected and bought ninety books at the sale and happily packed them for their trip home. Several young children who came with their families purchased books, too. Jim Moore, Book Sale chair, thanks library employees Jamie Helle, Mary Girard, Allen Arth and Isai Rivera who set up for the sale and packed up books that were left.

Donation of used books, videos and DVD's are accepted during regular library hours. For large quantities donors are asked to call the library in advance to make arrangements.

Book sales are the Friends' best fundraiser with semi-annual sales held in May and November, and ongoing book sales of items displayed on shelves just past the main circulation desk. All proceeds support the library through programs, equipment purchases and other items for use in the Gayle Waddell, Friends' President, celebrated her birthday in July by purchasing a Kentucky READ license plate for her car. She thinks that the plate would make a great gift for reading enthusiasts. Plates are available from county clerk offices at cost of $44. $10 from sale of each plate supports Kentucky libraries!

Goode Dedicated to Education Outreach for Boyle County

Beth Goode, library Education Outreach Coordinator, brings over 15 years teaching experience in private and public school settings to the library. Her position, added in early 2013, is dedicated to creating new avenues and partnerships for education outreach to all parts of the community. She joined the staff on January 28th.

Goode is building new and broader partnerships for education in all areas of Boyle County, teaches several technology classes, and will work individually with learners who need extra help. She, with other staff members, has increased the number of computer classes offered to the community; all classes are free and offered throughout the month. Class participants can improve computer skills, learn new software programs, and become familiar with new technologies. Committed to encouraging life-long learning in each workshop she teaches, Goode reminds participants, "You are never too young or old to learn". Her way of teaching allows each participant, no matter their skill level, to come away knowing more than they did before.

Originally from Mammoth Cave, Goode and her husband, Shawn, came here to be closer to family and friends. Their daughters, Gracie and Madalyn, have grown to love the area, are active in local sports, and of course love visiting the library! Goode enjoys leisure time by riding with her husband on his motorcycle, riding ATVs, spending time with friends and family, and being her daughters' biggest cheerleader for sports the girls play.

Goode is reading The Year of Pleasures by Elizabeth Berg with her reading group at the Boyle County Senior Citizens Center, and The Fate of Mercy Alban by Wendy Webb.

Friends' Sponsor Fall Film Series:

5 Decades of Mystery Classics

The fall 2013 classic movies, sponsored by the Friends of the Library, presents a second series of mystery films. These include many of Hollywood's most acclaimed actors, directors, and writers and will include some of the best known private investigators in cinema history. Films are shown at 7:00 PM in the community room at the Boyle County Public Library. No admission is charged and the general public is invited to attend. There will be a brief introduction to each film by Charles Vahlkamp and discussion afterwards.

The series' actor list includes Humphrey Bogart, William Powell, Lauren Bacall, Glenn Ford, Lee Marvin, Ray Milland, Grace Kelly, Paul Newman, Jack Nicholson, Faye Dunaway, Ingrid Bergman, and Albert Finney.

Distinguished directors in the series will be Howard Hawks, Fritz Lang, Alfred Hitchcock, Roman Polanski, and Sidney Lumet. We will see films based on the novels of Dashiell Hammett, Raymond Chandler, and Agatha Christie. Famous private eyes are featured including Charlie Chan, Nick Charles, Philip Marlowe, Jake Gittes, and Hercule Poirot.

October 17 - A 1935 film (72 min.) Directed by Lewis Seiler, with Warner Oland and Mary Brian. Charlie must overcome setbacks in his search for a forger. His son comes to help him out.

October 24 - A 1934 film. (91 min.) Directed by W.S. Van Dyke, with William Powell, Myrna Loy, and Asta. In this comedy/mystery film, based on a novel by Dashiell Hammett, private detective Nick Charles is hired by the daughter of an inventor whose father has been accused of murder.

October 31 - A 1946 film, (114 min.) Directed by Howard Hawks, with Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall. In this film version of Raymond Chandler's novel black-mail, murder, sex, and drugs come into play as Philip Marlowe tries to sort out the guilty parties.

November 7 - A 1953 film, (90 min.) Directed by Fritz Lang, with Glenn Ford, Gloria Grahame, and Lee Marvin. Ruthless criminals, an honest cop, sultry women and a gripping plot are the elements in this film noir/mystery.

November 14 - A 1954 film, (105 min.) Directed by Alfred Hitchcock, with Grace Kelly, Ray Milland, and Robert Cummings. The master of suspense gives us a sophisticated study of the perfect murder.

November 21 - A 1966 mystery, (121 min.) Directed by Jack Smight, with Paul Newman, Lauren Bacall, and Julie Harris. Private investigator Lew Harper is hired to find the millionaire husband of a prominent Los Angeles woman. His search takes him into the seamier sides of the city.

December 5 - A 1974 film, (130 min.) Directed by Roman Polanski, with Jack Nicholson, Faye Dunaway, and John Huston. What begins as a routine matrimonial snoop job for average gumshoe Jake Gittes turns into a murderous regional and personal scandal.

December 12 - A 1974 classic film, (128 min.) Directed by Sidney Lumet, with Albert Finney, Ingrid Bergman, Lauren Bacall, Sean Connery, Anthony Perkins, Vanessa Redgrave, et al. Agatha Christie's Hercule Poirot is called upon to solve a murder committed in his car just before the train is forced to stop while the rails are cleared of a heavy snow.

DE ARAUJO NAMED NEW DIRECTOR

An avid listener of recorded books, especially when she and her family travel, she picks the Hamish Macbeth series of mysteries by M.C. Beaton as her favorite recorded books. "I love to read out loud!" de Araujo said. "That was how our family read the Harry Potter series with my husband and me taking turns reading them out loud on family vacations." She said their daughters sometimes would take a turn reading, but they loved to listen to the stories. She added, "I think you're never too old to appreciate hearing a good story."

De Araujo is honored to be appointed as library Director and is excited about the new opportunities the Library will be able to offer the community in the coming years.

De Araujo resides in Danville with her husband, Mark. Together they have two grown daughters, Megan and Caitlyn.

The Boyle County Public Library Board of Trustees will honor de Araujo with a welcoming reception on Tuesday, September 10, from 4 pm to 5:30 pm at the library. The public is invited to attend and have an opportunity to meet and welcome de Araujo as Library Director.

Library Nears Completion of Website Upgrade & Redesign

Zach Upton, library IT Coordinator, is working with library staff and Friends' members to complete a major redesign and upgrade of the library's website, www.boylepublib.org. The new website is getting a different look and will provide updated and more interactive information for patrons about library services, community education classes, along with a more photographs of the library facility, library events and activities. Several new pages that will feature specific content are being added to the website to make it easier to locate information of interest to web visitors. Links to each webpage will take the viewer directly to the page or pages for the information they are interested in.

Gayle Waddell, Friends' president, is excited that Friends' will have its own web page on the site. She has been working with Upton to provide a history of Friends of the Library, the organization's mission, and activities. In the future the schedule of programs and film series sponsored by Friends will be posted on the Friends' page as well as promotion of book sale events and volunteer opportunities at the library. She is gathering photos from past Friends' events and programs to share on the Friends' web page.

New Online 'The Library Letter' Newsletter Available

The Library Letter is a new online publication of the Boyle County Public Library, that is created by Jen Boutin, Public Relations Coordinator. The online monthly newsletter keeps readers informed of upcoming activities, events, exhibits, book sales, programs, films and computer classes at the library, and computer classes offered at other locations in the community.

To receive The Library Letter automatically by email, sign up for it at the library's website www.boylepublib.org.

Friends' Board Votes to Fund Library Staff's $6,420 Wish List

Georgia de Araujo, new library Director, brought a "Wish List" of large and small requests that was compiled by the library staff to the Friends of the Library board at its August meeting. "Wish List" items are those not covered by the library's operating budget.

In fulfilling the purpose of Friends of the Library – "To foster interest in and support for library policies, progress, services, and needs" – the FOL board voted to approve expenditure of $6,420 for ALL wish list items during the next twelve months, and gave priority to three items on the list. De Araujo responded with a huge smile, and thanked the board for its generous action on behalf of the staff.

In order of priority, staff "Wish List" items are:

An Audio system for the Community room - $1,300 – System will include ceiling mounted speakers around the room and a sound mixing board to enable use of microphones for guest speakers and projection of films with accompanying sound on the room's large projection screen instead of a large screen TV. Friends of the Library gave this top priority since the group sponsors both a film series and several programs with guest speakers during the year, all of which are held in the Community Room, in addition to the frequent and growing use of the Community Room by community groups and businesses for meetings, training, and programs. The system will improve sound projection in the Community Room and is to be installed this Fall.

A Microwave oven for the Children's library - $120 - Children's library staff will use the microwave to prepare popcorn for children's movies and to conduct science experiments for children and Tween groups. The new microwave situated in the children's library will be more convenient for staff to use for these activities. Previously a microwave in the staff area has been used.

Great American Brass Band Festival - $500 – the Library staff will take advantage of the musical resources available during the 2014 Great American Brass Band Festival and plan educational programs for children and adults regarding instruments, music, and performance styles used by Festival musicians of the Civil War era.

Newborn Library Gift Packs - $1,000 – Children's library staff members will explore partnering with Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center for a new program that would provide materials to new parents of babies born at EMRMC. Materials would stress the importance of reading to babies, offer a list of suggested books or stories for the very young, and be accompanied by a certificate that new parents could bring to the library to receive a free board book. Friends' volunteers would be used to stuff the packs and deliver them to the hospital for distribution to new parents.

Mobile ActivBoard/SmartBoard- $3,500 - This is for purchase and installation of a highly interactive white board with Wi-Fi which is mobile, allowing its use in various places within the library by a wide variety of staff, and for a varied audience. The mobile unit would be used for staff training, community education instruction and other educational opportunities.

BOYLE COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY 2013 FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY

"Over the 27 years I've been at the Boyle County Public Library, time and time again I've seen the FRIENDS be the resource that makes innovation in Library services possible. For instance, it was the FRIENDS' generosity that allowed us to purchase foundation collections of VHS tapes, Books on CD, and DVDs. While that sounds so 'old hat' now, at the time that meant a sizable sum of money to purchase hundreds of titles and the supplies needed to make that 'new technology' a standard part of our collection. I think one reason people support the FRIENDS is because they have had wonderful Library experiences throughout their lives. It is that history of love for libraries that inspires support of new Library services for new generations of library users. The past inspires the future, and that is what libraries are all about."

With grateful appreciation and Thank You to each FRIEND,
